WE NOMINATE

James Clark, once described by an admiring fellow townsman as "possessor of the greenest green thumb in the Garden State of New Jersey," who on the threshold of his retirement from Princeton University has been singled out for one of the highest honors in the green fields of horticulture—the Distinguished Service Award of the Horticultural Society of New York. In charge of grounds maintenance and campus planting at the University for some 31 years, the 68-year old Clark was tapped as "professional horticulturist" of the year, sharing the podium in New York last week with amateur Henry Francis du Pont, creator of the celebrated gardens at Winterthur, Del., and the officers of the Missouri Botanic Garden.

A native of Scotland's County of Aberdeen, and with a thistle-like burr in his voice, Clark was hailed as one of the clan of professionally trained gardeners from the British Isles whose knowledge and instincts have "enhanced and doubly blessed horticulture in the United States." The New York Society's citation emphasized "the beautiful gardens and plantings he has developed at Princeton for the enjoyment and inspiration of students, faculty and visitors alike" and went on to state that "most notable is the unusual training, under his direction, of many flowering trees and shrubs against the stone university buildings—the finest collection of espaliered plants in this country."

Strangely missing from the citation, from the point of view of the Princeton community, was any mention of all that Clark has contributed over the years to the continuing development of the Borough's lone expanse of "open space," 17-acre Marquand Park. Ever since this beautifully landscaped tract, some of whose planting dates back to 1830, was brought in being in 1951 as a "living memorial" to late Professor and Mrs. Allan Marquand, Clark has worked closely with the Marquand Foundation Trustees and has been identified with the Park's all-volunteer Advisory Committee. In addition to adding generously to the Park's "holdings" of rare trees and shrubs, he has literally given hundreds of hours to such projects as helping local Boy Scout Troops identify the 70-plus varieties of trees to be found in the Park.

A Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society of England, a member of New York's limited-membership Hortus Club and a judge at many of the East's leading flower and garden shows, the soft-spoken Clark, with a sharp distaste for anything resembling publicity, completed his prescribed professional apprenticeship in the Gardens of Crathes Castle, Scotland, and, prior to migrating to the United States in the mid-1920's, gained added experience in other show gardens in the British Isles.

As he bounces from point to point on the campus in his green, and generally shiny, pick-up truck, Clark can detail the individual histories of trees and vines in much the same way an art historian ticks off the chronologies of paintings. His responsibilities include the well-being of over 1,000 trees on the central campus, a seven-acre nursery which supplies the campus gardens, and acres of lawn that are annually scuffed by some 4,000 pairs of undergraduate feet. Possibly the most appealing part of his verdant domain is tucked away behind the President's campus residence, Prospect—the Prospect Gardens where each year hundreds of out-of-town visitors marvel at the century-old Cedar of Lebanon, its lily pool with flowered borders and an ever-changing panorama of color.

For his achievements as a "top-grade plantsman" and "maker of gardens"; for his deep concern for preserving—and adding to—the natural beauties of one of the few remaining "green belts" in the Atlantic Seaboard's ever-growing Megalopolis; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

THE LOOK OF PRINCETON Year-End Index Published. By now, it is commonplace to say that Princeton is growing, but the pattern of its growth changes enough from year to year, and even from quarter to quarter, to make a shifting scene whose fluctuations are fascinating to watch.

TOWN TOPICS presents in this issue a picture of the "Princeton area" as it was at the turn of the year. This is the latest in the series of TOWN TOPICS Business Index features which have appeared every three months since the first quarter of 1960.

The profile of 1961 appears on this page, and it is an "upbeat" profile in almost every feature. The 1961 Business Index is on page 18.

Savings and loan associations and banks report a 13 percent rise in business, compared to the 15 percent rise between 1959 and 1960. Checking accounts show an even more startling change: they have risen 18 percent over the preceding year, whereas a year ago, they had dropped—a microscopic .5 percent from 1959, but still a drop.

Up! Perhaps even more significant is that ride-and-true statistic: new car sales. Here in Princeton last year, dealers sold 21 percent more new cars than they had the year before. In 1960, they only sold 10 percent more than in 1959.

Is this current figure reflected in the slight increase in loans? They are up 12 percent over 1960, and last year, they were up only 11 percent over 1959.

On the development side, Princeton has, perhaps temporarily, passed its building peak. New housing starts were down in both municipalities, although they did not slump quite so much in the Township as they had the year before. (In 1960, they were down 63 percent over 1959. This year, the decline is only 22 percent.)

Building permits in both Princetons are up in number, down in value over the year, which may mean that lots of hammers are building one room additions or screened porches, and not pounding away on new homes.

In the Township, incidentally, there is a 165 percent increase in permit value between the fall and summer quarters. This is due to permits for the $750,000 University field house, the $200,000 addition to the Medical Arts Building and to a $165,000 private home, which building inspector W. J. Shinn believes may well be the largest house ever built in the Township.

Business seemed to be good in 1961. Out of 20 large employers polled, TOWN TOPICS found a 17 percent average increase in the number of employees. Last year, 17 firms polled showed a 25 percent increase.

Pay-Roll Count. Of the 20, only two reported fewer employees than in 1960 and one of these, a large retail employer, was only down by three. The other, a survey organization, was down by four but still had 88 percent of the number it had a year ago.

Princeton University remains the largest employer, with 3,197—almost 700 more employess than two years ago. The next largest retains a steady 1,100 from year to year, adding 50 new members to its staff in 1961.

After these two, there is a sharp drop to Educational Testing Service, with 646, a rise over last year's 568 and 1959's 493.

A relatively new firm had six employees in 1959, jumped 432 percent to 26 in 1960, and now has 28. Another newcomer started in 1959 with 100 and now has 218.

Another growth indication comes from a retail establishment which reported nine employees in 1959 and 22 at the end of 1961.

(Princeton Hospital, with these additional residents to care for, now has 469 employees against the 440 of a year ago and the 410 of 1959.)

How We Grow. Sometimes it's the off-beat, who-would-have-thought- it statistic that catches the eye.

● Princeton Airport on Route 206 carried 26 percent more commercial passengers in 1961 than in 1960, and flew 25 percent more passenger revenue miles.

Half of the airport's business comes from transporting passengers to other airports; 30 percent consists of picking up passengers from other airlines and 20 percent are in a fascinating category called "miscellaneous." The airport also reports a 30 percent increase in the number of planes stored, and a 30 percent increase in the use of the field by others than Princeton Aviation Corporation, the owners.

● Back in town, the TOWN TOPICS survey finds an increase of five percent in the number of books and records circulated by the Princeton Library (217,749 over 200,694)—and an increase of one percent in paid fines. The library realized $5,793.50 in fines during 1961, by the way.

● Of the Library's users, 46 percent are Township residents, 39 are Borough and 15 come from surrounding areas.

● Public Service says that, as of September 30, 1961, there were 15,299 electric meters in the Princeton district. In all of 1960 there were 14,912.

One More? The Pennsylvania Railroad sold 132,591 tickets out of Princeton in 1961, 147,434 in 1960. (Since the start of the thrift-plan in mid-1961, a round-trip ticket is just one ticket, so that the figures do not actually indicate a drop in business. Railroad officials estimate that sales and revenue for 1961 were about the same as 1960.)

In compiling its statistics of growth and change in Princeton, TOWN TOPICS has had the generous assistance of many persons and institutions. Without their cooperation, the picture could not have been drawn, and TOWN TOPICS takes this opportunity to express its appreciation.

Board Candidates to Speak

The League of Women Voters will sponsor a meeting of the candidates for the Borough and Township boards of education Monday at 8:30 in the Nassau Street School. Mrs. Elmer Alpert of Autumn Hill Road will be the moderator.

The six Borough and three Township candidates will state their proposals to improve the schools, and questions from the floor will be answered. There are three vacancies on both boards.

Mrs. Clive Usiskin of 7 Bearfort Way, Lawrence Township, is chairman of the meeting.

drive total to $56,347,290. The three-year campaign will conclude next month. Mr. Davis' gift will be used to support Princeton's history department.

Mr. Davis was graduated from Princeton in 1930 with highest honors in history. He has been chairman of the advisory council of Princeton's history department for 21 years. The gift will constitute a memorial to Mr. Davis's father, George H. Davis, a member of the Princeton class of 1886.

The transfer of funds will be made on November 10, 1964, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Mr. Davis's father. The money will be used to establish endowed chairs in history and to finance fellowships for graduate work, research and publication.

NEW PHONE BOOKS DUE

This Week. The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company will begin distribution of the Suburban Trenton Telephone Directory Friday. The new issue covers Princeton, Hopewell, Pennington, Lawrenceville, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Lambertville, Hightstown and Allentown areas.

The company plans to deliver 42,800 copies of the directory in the initial distribution. Last year, 39,775 copies were circulated. The book contains 26,712 listings, an increase of about 600 over last year's total.

The Suburban directory will list many All-Number Calling telephone numbers. Introduced to open up more exchange designations, ANC employs seven numbers in place of the two-letter, five number combination in wide use now.

Hightstown and Cranbury are listed with their new ANC codes. Hightstown 8 will become 448 and EXport 5 will become 395 on February 4, when dial service is introduced in the communities. For example, a Hightstown number listed in last year's book as HI 8-9950 will be listed 448-9950 in the 1962 directory; EX 5-9950 becomes 395-9950.

ROUND-UP

Dog owners have until January 31 to renew licenses for their pets at the offices of their municipal clerks . . . the same day has been set as "Open Season Day" on deer, when bucks and does alike may legally be taken . . . December 20 had been set as the day originally, but the occasion was delayed by court wrangling.

The roads may have been unusually clear of snow and ice this winter but frozen spring water on State Road 206 caused a 21-year old Somerville woman to overturn Saturday morning just south of Arreton Road . . . she was uninjured, but the many drivers passing that way daily would do well to keep the hazard in mind.

A six-by-three-foot stuffed donkey belonging to Gov. Hughes was stolen during last week's inauguration ceremonies in Trenton and located in shrubbery between "Morven" and the Battle Monument on Stockton Street . . . a note pinned to the beast said, "The donkey enjoyed the ride," and was signed "John Birch '65" . . . Patrolmen Russell Shangle and Charles Harris returned the donkey, none the worse for wear, to Mrs. Hughes.

The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund totaled $4225.40, almost $200 more than last year's record high . . . and Box Z-45, the classified ad which last week had produced 209 replies, kept on drawing answers until they now stand at 227 from 30 different towns and cities in three states.

Last week's temperature produced a swing of 52 degrees, from Monday's high of 64 to a low of 12 both Thursday and Friday . . . the freeze that has been in effect most of the time has provided plenty of skating on the lake, with more cars parked near the Kingston dam Sunday than are found at many a spring crew race.

Have you seen a white, mottled Peahen? A "desperate Peacock seeks her recovery," it says in the classified ads this week, with Owner Patrick Kelleher anxious to reunite them.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

The fellow who gave us the quotes from the "Habit" book said, "It's too bad it is out of print, it's really worth-while reading. Perhaps it's in your library, though." He recalled a quote that has to do with helping children form good habits. It goes something like this: "Train your children from their earliest years to be "givers," instead of "takers," and then they will have the habit of wanting to give throughout life. The child who has been taught to give, not take, is happily adjusted to whatever adult life may bring." He said that the parent who is too concerned and always "giving" to his children, is actually taking away from them the most valuable heritage he could give them . . . he is helping them form the habit of "taking" and the world is seldom good to the person who always seeks to "take." This reminds us to repeat once again that we have proven this formula in business . . . we always "give" you that something extra, which is why we enjoy serving you and our hundreds of happy customers. Mrs. Rizzo has two coffee plants which have just produced two bright red beans and five green beans. (They eventually become bright red.) Mrs. Rizzo's plants grow from beans she brought from her grandfather's coffee plantation in Brazil and they stand in the sunshine in a southwest corner of her living-room. At the present count, Mrs. Rizzo could brew about a quarter of a cup of coffee, but more are on the way. (Staff Photo.)

TOPICS Of the Town

NEGOTIATIONS BEGIN

On Schools' Land Proposal. Westminster Choir College and the Borough Board of Education have begun negotiations on the Borough's hoped-for purchase of 18.6 acres of Choir College land.

Talks started Monday night and a decision will be reached by Friday, February 2, according to the announcement made Tuesday night at the regular Board meeting.

The announcement came as a complete surprise. In a public statement two weeks ago, the College declared that it would oppose the Board's attempt to buy the land and said it would seek damages if condemnation were successful.

Graham Rohrer, president of the Board, said that he could not disclose the nature of the behind-the-scenes discussions that led to the present talks.

Westminster has named a special committee of trustees to represent the Choir College with the Board. The trustees are the Rev. Arthur Byers, Jr., chairman; John P. Poe, Dilman M. K. Smith, Rudolf A. Clemen and Dr. Lester H. Clee.

On Monday, February 5, the Board will hold a special public meeting to discuss the results reached on February 2.

The Plans. After announcing that talks had begun, the Board presented details of its proposed Public Education Center, stating its belief that the greatest single problem confronting elementary education in the Borough is the need to replace Nassau Street and Witherspoon Street schools.

The Board cited comments in support of this opinion made by Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University; the Mayor, Planning Board members and the president of the PTA.

Both schools have inadequate playground space and cafeteria facilities. Both will need, in two years, major repairs or replacements for heating systems, cafeteria facilities and so on which will cost more than $100,000. Both schools are located in areas of increasingly heavy traffic.

By consolidating the 630 Nassau Street and 300 Witherspoon pupils in one center, the Board can provide common cafeterias, auditoriums, gyms and special-class study rooms at substantial savings in operation and in initial cost.

In the Center. The Board also believes that Borough students must have a school in the center of the densest elementary school population, and off the main traffic arteries.

Mr. Rohrer said that over 70 percent of elementary students live within five walking blocks of the proposed center.

Land acquisition is a problem in the Borough. By state law, the Board must acquire land contiguous to the Borough, if not actually in it. A parcel of land deep in the Township, for example, would be out of the question legally, according to Mr. Rohrer.

Members of the Board have visited and studied the William Anthiel Elementary and Junior High School in Ewing Township, and this school provides a model for the kind of complex they would like to build.

More Room. Plans call for 31 classrooms, kindergarten through eighth grade. There would be three kindergarten rooms, rooms for trainable children and those in need of remedial work, home economics, industrial arts, vocal and instrumental music rooms, a 60-student library and a gym-auditorium, none of which are now possible in the Borough's facilities.

Recreation areas would be planned with the entire community in mind, with tennis courts, hard and softball diamonds, and playgrounds developed in consultation with recreation communities.

If the Library Board so desired, the Board would discuss with library trustees the possibility of building a new public library on the site.

No Tax Increase. The Center would cost about $1,850,000, according to Board figures. Against this would be the estimated minimum of $800,000 which the Board believes it would realize from sale of both Nassau and Witherspoon properties.

Three prospective buyers have already approached the Board in regard to the properties, Mr. Rohrer said. The figure of $800,000 is regarded as conservative. Board members believe they could probably sell the schools for $1,000,000.

Given a sale of $800,000, the Board would then be required to float a bond issue of $1,050,000 which could be serviced over 30-years for about $60,000 a year.

It would cost $15,000 less to maintain the new school than it does to keep up the two old schools, Mr. Rohrer said. This subtracted from the $60,000 would leave $45,000 a year to be raised.

As ratables, the two old school properties would provide the Borough with revenue equal to, or more than, the $45,000 required, and the Board therefore believes that the entire Center could be built, staffed, administered and operated with no increase in the tax rate.

Hearing Well-Attended. More than 20 Borough residents appeared at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday night to hear Mr. Rohrer's report on the negotiations with the Choir College. Among them were Borough Councilman Albert A. Austen, candidates for election to the board, and representatives of the Borough PTA.

Mr. Austen commended the board on the amount of work it had put into preparation of the proposal for the new Education Center, and said:

"I am enlightened and encouraged and much more at ease now that I have heard all this."

Robert R. Palmer of 200 Prospect Avenue, a candidate for the board criticized the site as being "not sufficiently centrally-located."

"If it proves necessary to condemn the land," Mr. Palmer said, "then I don't believe I could support the plan. I don't think the proposed school is sufficiently ideal or necessary."

Community Park School by the Princeton Township Board of Education

Mr. Perkins said that there were a number of factors which made the new school attractive to him as a principal. Among them: ". . . an opportunity to develop an effective means of smoothing the transition from elementary school to junior high school . . . an important one and, by tradition, a rough one." Community Park will consist of grades 1-6

He mentioned also the opportunity to help develop and implement a plan whereby the public schools would be used more than they are "Many of them remain unused several months of every year and most hours every day," said Mr Perkins. "Community Park School is conceived, designed, and built as a community school. It will not, and cannot, serve effectively in that capacity without careful outlining of a plan for the combined use of its facilities by both the school and the community.

THREE MEN ARRESTED

In LaVake Jewelry Theft. Much questioning and old fashioned "leg work" by members of the Borough police department resulted in the arrest last week of three men and their arraignment in court Saturday on charges of stealing almost $4000 in diamonds and watches from a showroom window of LaVake Jewelers early Sunday morning, January 7.

Arrested were James L. Betts, 38, 116 Witherspoon Street; John Disnuke, 28, 145 Witherspoon Street; and George Marshall, Jr., 33, who gave both 16 Leigh Avenue and 227½ John Street as his address

They received a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr Saturday and were charged with breaking and entering and larceny. The three were placed in the Mercer County Jail to await further action by the Grand Jury Bail will be set by the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

Most of the stolen jewelry was sold or pawned in New York City, police report Borough Chief Peter J McCrohan said that every effort is being made to recover as much of it is possible.

The trio have also been charged with breaking into the Carter Road home of Mr and Mrs. Marshall Hay in late December Items listed as stolen include a portable typewriter, a radio and 75 blank checks.

Police report that in the past two weeks, the checks have been cashed in various nearby communities, having purportedly been made out to Mrs. Virginia Wolf, Route 27, Franklin Township, and endorsed by her Mrs Wolf lost her wallet last month on Witherspoon Street, and it was found by Marshall Princeton Township Police have charged Marshall with using a Bamberger's charge-a-plate in Mrs Wolf's name to obtain $404 worth of merchandise under false pretenses

The police who conducted the investigation that led to the arrests were Sgt. James Kopliner, Ptl John Bellow and officer Charles Sperling "They did a splendid job and should be commended for their fine police work," Chief McCrohan said. Working on the case for Princeton Township was Detective Fred Porter.

DAVID WICKS NAMED

Milton Headmaster. David D. Wicks, dean of students at Lawrenceville School and a former Princeton resident, has been appointed headmaster of Milton Academy, Milton, Mass. He lived in Princeton for many years, while his father, the Rev Robert W. Wicks, was dean of the University Chapel.

Mr. Wicks will succeed Arthur B Perry, who will retire as Milton's headmaster in 1963 after 15 years. During that period, the Academy has nearly doubled its endowment, and raised $3,155,000 to increase teachers' salaries and to improve facilities in a second drive The Academy has 600 students in its three schools.

A graduate of Princeton, Class of 1940, where he also received his master's degree, Mr. Wicks was a lieutenant commander on a destroyer during the Korean war. He has taught history and is hockey coach at Lawrenceville. He is married and has three daughters.

ASSESSMENTS OK'D

By Township. Following public hearings Monday night, Township Committee confirmed the assessors' report on the Pardee Circle sewer assessment and then confirmed the Brookstone-Fairway Drive sewer assessments, with one change.

The Brookstone change concerned two "hardship" adjustments which the assessors had made. After listening to residents of the area outline their various problems—septic systems already installed and working, distance from the sewer line, degree of improvement involved—Committee decided that all residents of the area had had "hardships," and so they wiped out the two exceptions and divided the cost of the sewer equally among all 26 properties.

Committee appointed Mrs. Harold M. Schroder, 66 Wittmer Court, to the Traffic Safety Committee. She is chairman of the combined PTA Safety Committees.

Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, was asked to study and report on the state's proposed changes in the planning and zoning law. At present, aggrieved parties can take their appeals to court. Under the proposed change, a three-man County commission would replace the court, thereby relieving crowded court dockets. Committee will decide, follow-

News Of The THEATRES

SING AND DANCE

Ailey Troupe Coming. The Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre will give a single performance this Friday at 8:30 in McCarter, before leaving for the Far East at the end of the month. The trip is sponsored by the president's special international program for cultural presentations.

In the group is Carmen de Lavallade, former ballerina at the Metropolitan Opera, who will appear with Mr. Ailey and seven other dancers. She has appeared on television in "Amahl and the Night Visitors," "The Gershwin Years," and "The Drum is a Woman."

Brother John Sellers will sing folk songs. The program will include Ailey's Blues Suite" and "Revelations." Mr. Ailey and Miss de Lavallade were the lead dancers in the Broadway musical "House of Flowers." Tickets at $3.90 and $2.90 are available at the McCarter box office and may be reserved by calling WA 1-8700.

"MOON" CAST SET

To Play February 2 and 3. The McCarter Guild's production of "Dark of the Moon" will be given Friday and Saturday, February 2 and 3, with the best 100 seats at each performance reserved for "production angels". The ticket prices are $2.90 (plus a $5 contribution) and $1.90. Both are available at the box office or may be reserved by calling WA 1-8700.

Among the Princeton residents in the cast are Edward Callanan, Gary Ellis, Karl Light, Elizabeth Pergerson and Carol Estey. The leading male role will be played by Norman Walker, New York choreographer and dancer, who has designed the dances for "Moon." Cora Cahan, a member of his company, will have a principal dancing role.

Suzanne Harvey, who appears in Eliza Kazan's "Splendor in the Grass," will play opposite Mr. Walker. She will portray Barbara Allen, the Smoky Mountain girl whose love for the Witchboy is broken by community antagonism.

(The following review was written for TOWN TOPICS by Mila Gibbons, Director of the Aparri School of Dance.)

STUNNING BALLET

At McCarter Theatre. Three contrasting ballets were presented by the American Ballet Theatre Wednesday, January 17, at McCarter. The large audience, not to be deterred by the high-priced seats, achieved a full house as some of the many standees slipped into the few remaining seats, and the balcony, sold out a week ago, remained solidly packed, as usual, with ballet lovers of all ages.

Seen from above, the exquisite restaging of the old classic "Swan Lake" by ballet master Fernand Nault presented the most clear-cut and varied patterns for the corps de ballet seen in a long time. Geometrically, "Swan Lake" might be called a snow-flake study in diagonals and circles, and the young swans (young indeed, being on the average 18 years old) danced beautifully.

Outstanding was the graceful use of the arms and head, creating a true softness and femininity, faithful to the original style of the Fokine choreography. Disappointing however, was the dancing of the two principals, Marianne Orlando as Odette and Caj Selling as Prince Siefried, both from the Swedish National Opera Ballet.

They conveyed no feeling of romantic love in this essentially romantic ballet, thus losing the essence of the story and of Tchaikovsky's music. This may have been caused in part by the musicians themselves who showed signs occasionally during the evening of being either unwilling or unable to play well together or with the dancers.

Patrons' Cars Towed Away

Twenty-six cars parked in the center of University Place while their owners were inside McCarter Theatre were ticketed last week by Borough police. Twelve of them were towed to Borough Hall during Thursday's Isaac Stern concert, and 14 others would have been during the American Ballet performance Wednesday but police could not rent a tow truck.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that cars parked in the center of University Place, despite the street's unusual width, constitute a traffic hazard, particularly to fire engines and ambulances. If snow began to fall during the performance, the situation would become doubly serious, he pointed out.

All 26 tickets were issued for obstructing traffic and involve $5 fines. The dozen cars towed from the scene will cost each owner an additional $5.

Tremendous drama and puzzling story were packed in the next short ballet, a modern piece called "Caprichos" to Bartok's "Contrasts for Violin, Clarinet and Piano," with choreography by Herbert Ross, inspired by the drawings of Goya and his biting comments accompanying them. The audience laughed where it might have cried, and it was serious where humor passed unnoticed

In four macabre episodes a woman was raped, a man danced with an inert body, and an innocent creature was burned at the stake, the whole indifferently observed by two sluts who were concerned more with the furniture than with the passing scene. The duo called "Tantalus" offered us the only opportunity of the evening to see John Kriza and Ruth Ann Koesun (When will we see the dainty Miss Koesun again in the Blue Bird pas de deux, please?)

These two great dancers in a few short minutes had us sitting on the edge of our seats. A Woman, apparently dead, is thrown into the arms of a Man, and the dance that ensues is so technically acrobatic, dramatically strange, that immediate response is laughter mingled with horror. The title had us looking in our mythological dictionary when we reached home, but we had got it right—frustration is tantalizing and gross handling creates inertia.

No dictionary was needed, however, for the piece de resistance, a grand finale if ever there was one. New this year to American audiences, "Etudes" is the art of ballet transported from the studio to the stage, beginning with the five positions and going through all aspects of ballet training, and building up to a grand crescendo of gorgeous leaps. Here the young people excelled, unhampered by problems of artistry in the realm of romantic interpretation. One mood they were to convey, and that, one natural to youth, the joy of dance

The verve and precision they displayed elicited rounds of applause as they worked up to ballerina variations and a delightful tarantella. Here the music, finally under the capable baton of musical director Kenneth Schermerhorn himself, carried right along with the dancers and fully accompanied the beautiful Lupe Serrano and the entire cast of soloists and corps of ballet.

"Etudes," as presented by the American Ballet Theatre, is a stunning piece and rightly deserves the success it has received in Europe, and now, in America The choreography is by Harold Lander, the new Danish ballet master at the Paris Opera, and the music is by Czerny Here there is zest, there is clarity, there is brilliance. Don't miss "Etudes."

HERE'S GENEVIEVE

With Love. What a pleasure to report that, after a succession of ladies buried in sand pits and huts that were clos. McCarter at last brought to Princeton an effervescent Parisian revue, dry, intoxicating and bubbling as the best champagne!

Yes, indeed, what a pleasure! Unfortunately, such a report is not possible. Genevieve, who came "From Paris, With Love" to McCarter Friday night, brought with her a spotty, uneven show, labored in its wit, thin in its music and often painful to watch because it tried so very hard to be what it wanted to be.

"From Paris" opens promisingly, with one of the best skits in the show. The curtain goes up on a bare stage. Actors wander in with luggage, yawn and speculate on the kind of dressing rooms awaiting them.

An American actor asks a French actor the time. "7:45," he replies Nobody pays much attention Then the American asks, "When did you set your watch?" "Chicago," the Frenchman says. There is another bored silence. Then the double take begins and the actors realize that they are no longer in the Chicago time zone. They turn in dismay to the dark theatre and find a full audience.

It is an ingratiating beginning. Soon after, we are introduced to the running gag of the revue: a stagehand with meticulous ideas about the application of union rules. Once, twice, three times, it is amusing. After that, it is merely predictable.

BERLIN BEAUTY: Pamela Tiffin plays the American soft-drink heiress whose misadventures with an East Berlin youth complicates matters for her father's employee, James Cagney, in the color comedy "One, Two, Three" at the Playhouse.

The most refreshing thing about "From Paris" is its cool and sceptical air about Paris itself. Genevieve spoofs a black clad chanteuse with commendable wit. There is a nice little scene in a typical Montmartre cafe, with passion, murder, a long-haired poet and some French-style slapstick.

There is a good song about the difference between tourist Paris and the real Paris. There is a splendidly funny strip tease to a violin solo. Throughout, there is earnest effort to achieve verve and originality and to escape the usual French revue cliches, while retaining the flavor of Paris.

But the show, as a whole, belongs in a night-club or on TV, not in a theatre. Genevieve, at one point, takes her guitarist and accordianist down into the audience where she gurgles at gentlemen sitting on the aisle and tries to rouse the good folk into singing, "Alouette" with her, a la Monsieur Mitch Miller.

The degree of success can be imagined. A Princeton audience in McCarter Theatre ringing the rafters with "Alouette?" Really! (Or a New York theatre audience, for that matter?)

It was fun, of course, to hear Genevieve sing "O Susanna!" in French but the contorted story line that served to get a Mississippi showboat as a drop for the song just wasn't worth the effort.

Genevieve's performers are a mixed group. She herself has the gamine vivacity of the French female entertainer. He guitarist, Luc Poret, is indifferent, as guitarist and as comedian.

Norma Doggett, a brash American blonde, is sassy and cute—and a wonderful strip tease Others merely come and go. There aren't many. It seems to be a budget revue, with small cast, skeletonal scenery, but nice costumes for the ladies.

We wish we could predict a long run

THE PLAYHOUSE

One, Two, Three (January 24-30) is a topical comedy based on some wacky goings-on between commisars and commercialists in today's divided Berlin. Producer-director Billy Wilder ("Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment") changed his script daily to keep up with current events, and the result is a fast-paced, fun-filled political satire.

James Cagney tops his "Mister Roberts" comedy role as an American soft-drink executive who finds that his boss' visiting daughter, Pamela Tiffin, has secretly married a Berlin beatnik from the wrong side of the Brandenburg Gate. His connivings keep the plot moving, and his brilliant comic delivery keeps the audience in stitches. Lilo Pulver is also excellent in her not-too-subtle

WE DANES—AND YOU

SCENERY

What Denmark Looks Like and What there is to Look at.

AS YOU can see from the map, Denmark consists of the peninsula Jutland as well as 500 islands most of which are kept apart by bridges—the bigger ones, at any rate. A bridge between Funen and Zealand is the only one lacking for the present.

Denmark is low-lying—from approximately four feet below sea level to 570 feet above it. It makes up for being low by being beautiful. At any rate, it is a pleasant country to look at. Denmark has a smile for everybody who likes to see a smile, just as some other countries shout with laughter or look sad or even positively gloomy.

An English writer once declared that Denmark resembled a red cow in an enormous green field. Add that it is a gay cow and a pleasant field and the remark is true enough. But there are also broad streams and blue lakes about the country, idyllic fjords, beaches where water laps the white sand, unexpected cliffs that you can fall over if you lean out too far; there are stretches of moorland so flat that you stop believing the world is round, dunes with masses of sand almost indistinguishable from a sample of African desert, damp rich marshes, woods with pale green beeches and picnic baskets, and Rebild's heather-covered hills and dales. Dotted about amongst it all are thousands of gardens, surrounding thousands of small white farms, and ancient parks surrounding ancient castles that are haunted by grey and white ladies who look down from the mullioned windows upon real white swans on the green waters of the moat. There are hundreds of gay, queer, amusing towns where gay, queer, amusing people go around speaking twenty different kinds of Danish.

There is a waterfall in Jutland. It is four feet high. There are rocks too—but these are all kept in the island of Bornholm.

BILLIARDS, ANYONE? A miniature pool table is among the many articles which will be put up for bids at the Princeton Smith Club's 13 annual auction, scheduled for Saturday, January 27, at Miss Fine's School Gym. Setting up balls here are are Mrs. C. Welles Fendrich, Jr., general chairman (left), and Mrs. John F. Bales, assistant chairman.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S AUCTION TIME

For Smith, For You. Bidders with a nose for the keen buy may start out this Saturday at the Smith College Club auction by bidding on a Seth Thomas banjo clock or a new, full-size Royce Union boys' bike.

The traditional auction, to be held in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's from 10 to 4 this Saturday, always brings out a wide variety of things to bid on.

One orderly housewife has contributed to the auction a truly amazing batch of brand new wedding presents, including three lazy Susans, of all things. One is a formal hors d'oeuvres tray that revolves and presents the ready guest with five segments full of shrimp and things, and a round center with, we suppose, dip. The silver is plain, with a chased border.

A second is a 16-inch myrtle wood circle to put ketchup bottles on, and the third is a cheerful Susan with separate wedge-shaped pottery dishes for pickles and such.

Another wedding gift is a 10-inch sterling cake plate by Towle plain, with twist border.

(We just hope that bride was not married in Princeton: if she was, she might as well leave town.)

To proceed. One of the finest big pieces to be offered under the hammer will be the Beau Brummel donated by The Leopard's Head. This is a man's satinwood and mahogany portable dressing stand, a worthy antique in the $150 price range.

"On 1910"

Among the vast collection of household goods gathered for the Smith College Club auction this Saturday, our favorite is a Smith songbook dating from 1909 and including such classics as "On 1910" and "Just One College."

In the final verses of "Just One College" there are libelous references to V.. r, B.. M.. and W.... y, but the general spirit of the book is one of vigorous and upright College Spirit, best exemplified in the lines written, in pencil, on the fly-leaf: "Smith, '13 — Yale, '11."

What'll you bid, Smith?

A mahogany desk, once the bottom part of a secretary, but now on its own, is 33 inches wide with serpentine front, ball and claw feet and several accommodating drawers. It's just as useful as the mahogany end table with two shelves and drawer, 20 inches wide.

A pleasing water-color of Taxco, Mexico, framed, displays the planes of roofs and hills in a gentle and agreeable way . . . a set of 10 brown pottery onion soups will warm many a cold winter day luncheon . . . a TDC Vivid slide projector with automatic changer and trays could be yours . . . so could the complete breakfast service for four, dark green and white . . . or the eight and ten-inch modern Dutch pewter pitchers. Are you ready?

THE LEAF IS REAL

So Is the Gold. The Swiss process by which a real leaf can be turned into, you will pardon the expression, gold leaf, has been adopted and adapted by an adept Hopewell craftsman who offers you the results of his work in a gift shop three miles outside Hopewell on North Greenwood Avenue.

(Open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., by the way, Saturdays and Sundays all day.)

At the Davenport Ridge Shop, you will find an extraordinary collection of real leaves, all of them transformed, as if by Midas himself, into gold. Some, of course, are copper — but do we hear a quibble?

There are splendidly large coat pins made of mature oak leaves and precise little tie-tacks made from a single leaf of box. In between are pendants, earrings, tie clasps and, of course, smaller pins.

Mr. Davenport uses ivy, geranium, crabapple, hepatica, oak, currant, philodendron, rose, weeping birch, tulip poplar, boxwood, chrysanthemum, greenbriar, magnolia, bloodroot, ginko, maple, pipsissewa, Chinese Holly, myrtle, abelia and holly leaves to make his jewelry and so far as we can tell, the only thing he has left out is poison ivy.

Most of the leaves are all alone, except for the clip or pin on the back, but some have been mounted on squares of gold or copper. The tie clasps, of course, serve as mountings for the smaller leaves.

Mr. Davenport sometimes lets the copper oxidize or wash away in whatever pattern it chooses, thereby producing leaf surfaces with unusual color patterns, almost like a true, burnished autumn leaf.

In his shop are many other handcrafts such as hand-blocked linen hangings, fine leather belts for women, ties, scarves and book covers of hand-decorated fabrics, but it is the leaf jewelry that will remain in your mind.

Incidentally, Mr. Davenport's jewelry may also be purchased in Princeton at the Princeton Gift Shop, Palmer Square.

MUSIC In Princeton

NEW CONE PIECE FEATURE

Of Orchestra Concert. The Princeton Symphony Orchestra will present works by Edward T. Cone, Beethoven, Schubert and Marcello Monday at 8:30 in McCarter. Mr. Cone's new composition, which will receive its first performance at the concert, is entitled "Nocturne and Rondo for Orchestra and Piano." Mathilde McKinney will be the piano soloist.

Benedetto Marcello, an Italian composer of the early 18th century, will be represented by "Concerto for Oboe and Strings," one of the few solo works for the oboe. James Caldwell, who played first oboe with the Philadelphia Orchestra during the 1959-60 season, will play the solo part.

The two works from the classic repertoire will be Schubert's Symphony No. 8 ("Unfinished") and Beethoven's Overture to "Fidelio." Nicholas Harsanyi, the orchestra's conductor since its inception in 1950, will lead the orchestra, which commissions and presents a new work from a Princeton composer on almost every program.

Professor Cone's "Elegy" was commissioned and performed by the orchestra in 1954. His "Nocturne and Rondo" was composed between 1955 and 1957, and is designated "for Orchestra and Piano" rather than the customary reverse sequence to indicate that the orchestra is an "equal partner rather than an accompaniment."

STERN PRAISED

For Integrity and Musicality. The penultimate concert in Series II of the Princeton University Concerts, last Thursday evening at McCarter Theatre, presented the American violinist Isaac Stern and the pianist Alexander Zakin in works by Handel, Brahms and Stravinsky. Additionally, Mr. Stern played the Bach Partita in D minor for violin alone.

To begin with, Mr. Stern is the complete master of his instrument — a virtuoso, but in the old, non-pejorative sense of this term. In modern usage, this word is often an exclusive one (i.e., technical prowess is the only virtue of the virtuoso), but this was not always so, and is most emphatically not so in the case of Mr. Stern.

For a number of reasons, the Bach Partita was the most remarkable experience of the evening. The most important reason, which perhaps goes without saying, is that this is a great piece of music; for that, credit goes to Johann Sebastian Bach. Since it is also a staggeringly difficult piece to play, Mr. Stern deserves all possible credit for making us oblivious of this difficulty, save for an occasional fleeting recollection that one had never before heard a particular point (of Bach's) so clearly made.

CONCERT CONDUCTOR AND SOLOIST: Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct the Princeton Symphony Orchestra Monday evening. Mathilde McKinney will play in Edward T. Cone's "Nocturne and Rondo for Orchestra and Piano." (Photo by John Borden)

Two further points will illustrate Mr. Stern's integrity, as well as his musicality. First, he played the entire Partita, not just the final Chaconne (a considerable temptation, since violinists have long known that this final movement is, all by itself, a show-stopper). Second, he lavished as much care on the earlier movements as on the last, in preference to throwing them away on the fairly safe assumption that this will be forgotten if the Chaconne is adequately played.

These may seem obvious points, but they do serve to pinpoint a major difference between Mr. Stern and some other violinists. One may wonder what Bach had in mind in constructing this particular Partita in such a different way from his others, but there is no doubt that its movements belong together, and that the problem of balance is scarcely solved by saving oneself for (and thus putting still more weight on) the Chaconne.

If Mr. Stern's playing of the Bach has been singled out for especial praise, it does not mean that he played any less well during the rest of the program. Whenever the violin's line bore the musical weight (most specifically, in the Handel E major Sonata, and in the encores), there was pleasure and profit. The Brahms D minor Sonata, however, requires more assertive and accurate pianism than Mr. Zakin was able to supply; it is a duet, not a solo with accompaniment.

The evening's novelty, Samuel Dushkin's arrangement of the Divertimento from Stravinsky's Tchaikovsky-pastiche ballet "Le Baiser de la Fee", although made with the composer's active cooperation, cannot be accounted a very satisfactory work. Shorn of its balletic raison d'etre and the special charm of Stravinsky's witty orchestration, its repetitiousness is occasionally oppressive; one was reminded of the skeleton of a once-beautiful woman. Mr. Stern did, of course, his exemplary best to flesh it out with tone and technique, but the rhythmic sogginess of the piano was not an asset in these efforts.

The encores were a lovingly-played Adagio and Rondo of Mozart, and Karel Szymanowski's very peculiar, if spectacular, transcription of the Paganini Caprice No. 24, to which Mr. Stern had introduced us last year.

News Of The Theatres

satire of a blonde, gum-chewing, hip-swinging private secretary.

The drawback (if it can be called a drawback) is that the puns and double-entendres keep coming to fast that the audience's laughter drowns out many other lines. Andre Previn appropriately scored the film to the equally frantic "Sabre Dance." Filmed in Berlin in color and wide-screen. Comment: barbed wit vs. barbed wire.

THE GARDEN

Purple Noon (January 25-30) is a French mystery which begins like the modern "new wave" films, with fascinating pictures of varied neuroses, but soon drifts into pure melodrama. Unfortunately, neither method is completely satisfactory, for the chase-thriller ending fails to solve the problems posed by the beginning.

Briefly, the story concerns a young man (Alain Delon) who lives off a wealthy friend, Maurice Ronet. Coveting his friend's money, boat, apartment, clothing and girl, Delon murders his benefactor (in a grisly scene on the yacht) and assumes his identity. From that point on, he is involved in a series of near-recognitions by the victim's relatives until he commits a second murder and is captured.

Delon portrays the killer with a grim determination that won him acting honors for "Rocco and his Brothers." Marie Laforet is the provacative and alluring girl friend of both the victim and the imposter. Filmed in color along the Tyrrhenian Sea, the Gulf of Salerno and Rome. Comment: misguided murder and mayhem.

Aida (January 31) is the third offering in the Grand Opera series. Sophia Loren portrays the Ethiopian slave-princess, but happily, the voice of Renata Tebaldi is dubbed in. Others in the cast include Ede Stignani and Giuseppe Campora. Verdi wrote this, the last opera of his "middle" period in 1871 on a special commission from the king of Egypt, and it premiered 90 years ago last Christmas Eve in Cairo.

collections at Zinder's this year: almost every pack has a special Valentine "for teacher." One even has TWO Valentines for teacher. (There's always an apple-polisher in every crowd.)

Hallmark contributes a divisive influence by having envelopes "for girls to send" and envelopes "for boys to send." An open invitation to buy the opposite kind, in our opinion.

Hallmark also has some fine party decorations, like the table centerpiece which is a gold and white and red Cinderella coach, and the red honeycomb heart which you hang against the wall.

In the stuffed animal collection — all red and white — is a red-eared sleeping dog with heart-shaped eyelids and a doll who is asleep on a red plush pillow.

Among the cards, you will find Valentines for your second cousin twice removed, your brother, your baby and that old teacher again. There are even Valentines for sweethearts.

MAN FINED $35

For Careless Driving. Harold C. Thompson, Jr., 35, of 203 Birch Avenue, was fined $35 in Township Court on a charge of careless driving. He pleaded guilty before Magistrate James S. Hill.

Donald R Willis, 28, of 24 North Stanworth Drive, was fined $33 after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding. Chester M. Potts, 30, of 56 Fischer Avenue, was fined $25 after pleading not guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Richard W Glenn of Amwell Road, Hopewell, was fined $20 on a charge of failing to keep to the right. He pleaded not guilty. Albert J Lieber, 28, of 45 Wiggins Street, was fined $19 after pleading not guilty to a charge of speeding.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

At YWCA. Miss Genieve N Gildersleeve, representative at the United Nations from the Business and Professional Women's Foundation, will be guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the YMCA on Monday at 6 at the Y Center.

Miss Gildersleeve will speak on the topic "Women's Role in the United Nations." A former State Department employee, she is associated with the American Association for the United Nations and the League of Women Voters. She is also legislative chairman of the New York City branch of the American Association of University Women.

A short business meeting, during which members of the board of directors and the nominating committee will be elected, will precede Miss Gildersleeve's talk. Dinner music will be provided by the Opposite Sextet and the recorder group of the Newcomers' Club. A question and answer period will follow Miss Gildersleeve's talk.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

At Adult School. The Princeton Adult School will hold an open house on Thursday, February 1, between 3 and 6, and 8 and 10 at Princeton High School, Moore Street. Classes will begin the following Thursday, February 8.

A total of 26 courses will be offered for ten weeks. All classes will be held on Thursday evenings except those in the course "Techniques in Fiction," which will be held on Tuesdays at Miss Fine's School beginning February 6.

Prospective students will have an opportunity to register for courses at the open house. Members of the school faculty and committee will be present during the evening hours to answer questions. Special discount tickets for the spring series at McCarter Theatre will also be sold to students who register for the lecture series "Experience of Theatre."

Those planning to enter language courses have been asked to speak to instructors before registering. Two-hour language classes have been held weekly during the first term.

ROSES AND RHUBARB

by Allen

"Daisies Do Tell"

It'll be some time before daisies are running riot on the back lot. In California, however, things are different. Fact is, they have daisies everywhere. Just on speculation that some daisies would look nice enthroned on your coffee table, we have arranged at practically no expense to ourselves, to have several thousand husky California daisies flown in for this weekend.

Since daisies are simple and plain-type flowers, we are keeping the price simple and plain, too. For just TEN DIMES you can have an armload (25).

They will probably last a week, and then, if you tire of them, you can do the old "loves-me-loves-me-not" bit. Pulling petals from daisies seems a humiliating end for such fragile beauty, but one thing seems certain: almost anyone can get the answer they want at least once out of 25 daisies.

WERE YOU FLOODED?

Harry's Brook Again. The 150 landowners who live along Harry's Brook are replying this week to a questionnaire asking for information about flood damage, flood heights and the frequency of flooding.

The questionnaire was mailed by the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, and is the first step in a survey to determine whether a U. S. Soil Conservation Service flood control program is feasible along Harry's Brook. If so, the Township, Borough and Watershed Association would sponsor the project jointly.

MOTORIST IS FINED

For Not Keeping To Right. Jesse P. Franklin, 38, 226 Walnut Avenue, was fined $20 by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. Monday for failure to keep to the right. Mr. Franklin pleaded guilty.

In other cases, Mrs. Thomas K. Frelinghuysen, 41, 170 Prospect Avenue, and Robert W. Anderson, 17, 40 Model Avenue, Hopewell, were each fined $15. Mr. Anderson pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving and Mrs. Frelinghuysen to driving with an overdue inspection sticker. William Venable, 21, 111 Dodge-Osborne Hall, Princeton University, a cyclist, was fined $10 for disobeying a traffic officer's signal. He denied the charge.

In a criminal court hearing, Thomas L. Pucillo, 44, Rabbit Hill Road, West Windsor Township, was sentenced to 90 days in the county workhouse for molesting a young girl on Moore Street. He was assessed $10 in court costs.

OFFICERS ELECTED

In Fire Company. Walter Ellsworth of Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, has been elected president of the Princeton Junction Volunteer Fire Company No. 1.

Other new officers are Richard Ward, vice-president; Gerald Kiernan, treasurer; Joseph Sodomin, recording secretary; Leon Reuter, financial secretary; Joseph Cavanaugh, corresponding secretary; Robert Servis, chief; John Stives, foreman; Gerald Watlington, assistant chief; Robert David, assistant foreman; G. A. Ward, Frank Ziegler and George Kmenta, trustees.

NOMINATIONS OPEN

For Hospital Board. Nominations for members of the Board of Trustees of Princeton Hospital will be accepted until midnight Saturday, February 10. New board members will be elected at the corporation's annual meeting February 26.

Richard W. Baker Jr. is chairman of the nominating committee, whose members include Thomas P. Cook, Ricardo A. Mestres, Mrs. Donald W. Griffin and Alhridge C. Smith 3rd. The committee's nominations will be announced February 1, with other nominations to be revealed February 11.

Nominations must be signed by at least five voting members of the corporation and must carry the signed acceptance of the nominee. Only corporation members are eligible for nomination, and only members may make nominations and vote.

The five board members whose terms expire in February are George W. Conover, Elmer W. Engstrom, Joseph J. Redding, George R. Cook 3rd and Laurence C. Ward Jr.

HEARING SCHEDULED

At West Windsor. Princeton Recreation Center will come before the West Windsor Planning Board at 7:30 next Wednesday in the Dutch Neck Town Hall to ask for a major subdivision of its Route One property.

The request covers the firm's plans for a motion picture theatre, garden apartments, bowling alley and so on. The exact and complete uses of the property have not yet been decided on by the company, according to Planning Board officials.

At the Wednesday night meeting, the Planning Board will re-organize and will elect a new chairman.

BENEFIT DANCE SET

By Lions Club. The seventh annual benefit dance sponsored by the Princeton Lions Club will be held February 11 at Miss Fine's School. Two orchestras will provide continuous music from 9:30 to 2.

M. George Habeeb is general chairman of the dance. Other committees will be directed by Robert Nelson, Rudolph F. Lehnert, William Karch, Murray Abelson and Norton Jefferson.

TWO NAMED IN BOROUGH

To Board of Health. Mrs. Arthur F. Wagner, 19 Jefferson Road, and Dr. J. Leonard Moore, 59 Westcott Road, were elected president and vice-president of the Borough Board of Health at board's regular monthly meeting.

Each will serve for a one-year term. Orren J. Turner, a new member, replaces Richard Stoddard on the seven-man board.

BURNS NIGHT SET

By Daughters of Scotia. Thistle Lodge 220, Daughters of Scotia, will hold a Robert Burns night on Friday at 8 in Odd Fellows Hall, 23½ Witherspoon Street.

Mrs. Constance Henderson, sub chief daughter, has charge of arrangements. Mrs. James McDowall, a past chief daughter, is in charge of refreshments. Members and friends are invited.

ESCHE ELECTED

Carriers Choose Officers. John Esche of 238 Mt. Lucas Road has been elected president of Princeton Branch 268, National Association of Letter Carriers.

Other new officers are Joseph W. Morrone, vice-president; George Vlahogonis, treasurer; John A. Kelly, secretary; Anthony Cirullo, sergeant-at-arms; Paul Stevens, chaplain. The organization meets on the last Thursday of each month.

A Note To

PEUGEOT BUYERS

A Stroll Through Peugeot

For an idea of why European models display impressive standards of quality, stroll through the Peugeot plant in this small town near the border of Switzerland and Germany. Peugeot, although the name means little to most Americans is one of France's oldest manufacturers.

"Quality is the beginning and end with them," says an official of a competitive firm, with obvious respect.

One important way in which Peugeot makes sure is by one of the thorough inspection systems in any car plant in the world. Out of 19,000 employees, including administrative personnel, in Sochaux, 1,100 are inspectors. Moreover, most do not, as they frequently do in many other plants, inspect by merely looking to see if a given part is present or missing. There are inspectors of this type on the final assembly line, but most of Peugeot's testers actually are busy with gauges, magnifying glasses or magnetic devices—making certain that parts are flawless and of the correct dimensions

No Random Samples

Nor are their tests conducted on a random sample basis, as they always are in the U. S. Every single one of the thousands of parts that go into each Peugeot car is checked — from the heaviest engine casting to the tiniest screw or bolt.

The sampling system is rejected by Peugeot for finished cars, too. As the vehicles roll off the assembly line — 900 a day — each is driven directly to a small test track just outside the plant There it is sped over various types of pavement, including rough cobblestones, to test for handling problems or an unsatisfactory ride or noise level One car in 20, moreover, is driven for 30 miles, and once a week a sample car is given a gruelling 350-mile test and then disassembled to locate parts showing wear.

While other European auto makers are not as inspection-conscious as Peugeot, in general they are much more so than U. S car producers. Such procedures, to an American executive, are simply waste of time and money "Why bother?" one asks "If we start getting reports of transmission trouble, then we take action to find out why and to correct the matter. But all that checking beforehand doesn't pay Nearly all of them are okay"

THE BASE WILL BE BROAD but what form will it take? If Governor Hughes presses for a broad base tax to ease the state's financial burdens, Mrs. Eva Somorjai (left) and Miss Theresa Mozzarella disagree in their preference for a sales tax versus an income tax. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Governor Hughes says that a broad base tax may be necessary to meet higher costs, including those of education. Which would you prefer, a state income tax or a sales tax?

Where asked: Around town.

Richard C. Davis, Skillman, school psychologist: I prefer a state income tax. An income tax is based on the differential incomes of people. A tax is established on the percentage of what an individual earns. In a sales tax, everybody tends to contribute an equal amount regardless of income.

Mrs. William Kleinberg, 50 Woodland Drive, secretary-treasurer, Princeton Labs: Sales tax. It's a little less painful, I think. And it's really broad-based. Everybody gets hit by it.

George H. Shay, Somerville, sales division for Johns Manville: Of the two, I think an income tax would be fairer as it would be predicated on your earnings. If you don't earn it, you don't pay it. A sales tax would hit unjustly lower income people; everyone would pay the same fixed rate whether he earned $4000 or $400,000 a year. I would never be in favor of a sales tax that did not exempt food, medical supplies and basic necessities of life. A sales tax is retrogressive taxation rather than progressive taxation which is the principle of the income tax. I agree with Bob Meyner when he says he isn't so sure a broad base tax would solve everything. I think it would be better if we asked ourselves if we were getting the maximum benefit from our tax dollar in public education.

Miss Martha Nowak, Princeton Inn, captain of the dining room: A state income tax, because you'd only have to pay it once during the year and you'd be done with it. You wouldn't have to be bothered with a lot of pennies everytime you made a purchase. Also, the people who come here from out of state would not be taxed on the items they buy here.

Miss Theresa Mozzarella, 12 Princeton Avenue, medical secretary, Princeton Hospital: A sales tax. I think it hurts a little more when you see it coming out of your paycheck every two weeks. Having lived in a state where they have a sales tax, I know it isn't so bad. You don't mind paying a few extra pennies when you go shopping. We have enough deductions coming out of our checks now. I couldn't bear another one.

Mrs. Eva Somorjai, 419-A Butler Avenue, housewife: I'd prefer an income tax. It's a selfish thing. My husband is here on a fellowship and we don't have to pay any federal income tax. If we stayed in New Jersey, there would be a lot of things I would have to buy.

Stanley Wells, 448 Walnut Lane, engineer: An income tax. I think the collection costs would be lower. There is a nuisance aspect in the sales tax. It is collected in bits and dribbles and occupies a lot of time of the business merchants and the customers as well. I think the income tax is more equitable. It can be scheduled in such a way that the burden can be borne by those most able to pay, which is not the case of the sales tax.

Richard White, Edison Township, food supervisor for Nassau Inn: Neither one of them. I feel we got along this far without any broad based taxes under past governors and I see no need to start now. If I had to make a choice, I would prefer a sales tax. I think it is fairer than an income tax.

Mrs. Theresa Rees, Bunker Hill Road, Franklin Township, private nurse: A state sales tax on luxury items only. It wouldn't seem too bad to have a tax on things that aren't essential.

Dietrich Meyerhofer, 209 Shadybrook Lane, phsicist: I personally prefer a state income tax. I think it is a more just way of distributing the tax. Also, I hate a sales tax. I think they're a nuisance—adding all those pennies on everything.

Mrs. Ilse Thompson, Princeton-Kingston Road, housewife: I think we ought to practice more economy in New Jersey government. And not only in New Jersey but in the whole country. We should take care of our own finances first and we ought to quit sending money all over the world indiscriminately. I don't want a sales tax or an income tax. I think a sales tax is pretty miserable. The merchants and the people will be bothered with it. I don't see how it can be done equitably; it's too complicated. It's nothing but pennies all over the place.

Benjamin Levine, 93 Woodside Lane, manager of Claridge Wine and Liquor Co.: A state income tax. A sales tax would affect more of the lower-income bracket people. A sales tax affects almost every purchase, whereas an income tax, based on one's income, is more equitable.

Miss Sandra Branel, 50 Moore Street, visitor from Venezuela: An income tax. Since everyone would be taxed according to his income, I feel it would be fairer than a sales tax.

NEW MARCH OF DIMES PLANNED: The annual Mothers' March has been scheduled for the afternoons of January 27 and 28, a change from the former evening hours because of poorly lighted streets in some sections and the numerous rural areas to be covered. Mrs. Stuart Wilson, chairman of the 1962 March of Dimes here, is shown with Township Mayor Fairman (left) and Borough Mayor Patterson as they issue proclamation marking the event.

Obituaries

Dr. Alexander Loveday, 74, a former Princeton resident, died January 20 in Oxford, England. He lived in Greenholm for nearly ten years, following his move from France in 1940. He was director of the economic, financial and transit department of the League of Nations for 27 years and set up his records in an office provided by the Institute for Advanced Study during his stay here.

Among his collaborators were two well-known economists who still live here—Martin Hill and Miroslav Kriz. At one time, his staff numbered 30 members.

After World War II, when his material was turned over to the United Nations, he served on the nuclear, economic and employment commission of the UN. Thereafter, he became warden of Nuffield College, Oxford, and retired in 1954.

Dr. Loveday was educated at Cambridge and held lectureships there and at Leipzig University. During World War I, he worked in the British War Office. Among his publications were "Britain and World Trade," "Quo Vadimus and Other Essays," "A Study of Democracy in Danger," and "The Lessons of Monetary Experience."

Surviving are two sons, Thomas of Weston, Conn., and Alexander of Geneva, Switzerland, both graduates of Princeton University; and a brother, the Very Reverend David G. Loveday, Suffragan Bishop of Dorchester, England.

Mrs. Minnie Elizabeth Ludlum Finch, 88, died January 18 at the home of her son, Robert B. Finch, 114 Ingleside Avenue, Pennington, after a long illness. She was the widow of Frederick B. Finch.

Mrs. Finch had lived previously in Nutley and Wayne, and was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Nutley. Survivors, beside her son, are a daughter, Mrs. Floyd T. Blacksmith of Union; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Blackwell Memorial Home in Pennington, with the Rev. A. Kenneth Magner officiating. Burial was in the Presbyterian Cemetery, Metuchen.

Garnell Herron, Sr., 64, of 290 Witherspoon Street, died January 18 in Princeton Hospital after a short illness. Mr. Herron was born in Barksdale, S. C., and lived in this area for over 39 years.

Mr. Herron was a member of the Princeton YMCA, where he was also employed for 26 years. He was a past commander of Charles Robinson Post No. 218, American Legion and held membership in Aaron Lodge No. 9, F and AM, the Corinthian Square Club and Local No. 50, AFL-CIO. He was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Florie Herron; a son, Garnell Herron, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Bessie Moody, both of Trenton; a brother, Collie Herron of Princeton; and six grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Mount Pisgah AME Church, with the Rev. Albert Tyson, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Chamber Institutes Award

The Chamber of Commerce will name a "Man of the Year" at its dinner-dance to be held January 27 at the Princeton Inn. J. P. Meyer, committee chairman, said the award will be presented "to an individual in the Greater Princeton community who has, in the past year, contributed a great deal to Princeton, its people, and its institutions."

In addition to the presentation of this new award, the late John C. Williams will be honored by the Chamber.

Frank Bailey will provide the music, and favors will be given to the women. The dance will begin at 7 and last until 1.

PEOPLE In the News

Rodman D. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Patton of Skillman, is a member of the Williams College freshman ski team. He will take part in the annual Williams College Winter Carnival competition to be held February 2-3. He is a graduate of St. George's School, Newport, R.I.

Miss Anne Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Schmidt of 12 Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, has been designated for membership in Box and Candle, the honorary society within the dramatics association at Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y. She is a sophomore.

Webb Harrison, Jr. of 9 Battle Road has received a letter as a member of the Princeton University soccer team. Members of the freshman soccer team receiving numerals include: Raymond H. A. Carter II of 604 Kingston Road; Anthony C. Breuer of 79 Parkside Drive, and George A. Peterson of Glenmoore Farms, Hopewell.

A 1956 graduate of Princeton High School, Michael D. Scott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott of 232 John Street, has been promoted to specialist four at Fort Story, Va., where he is serving with the 4th Transportation Terminal Command. Specialist Scott entered the Army in July, 1960 and received his basic combat training at Fort Benning, Ga. He is a clerk-typist.

Miss Louise MacCalmont, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William MacCalmont of 100 Hamilton Avenue, participated in the College of Wooster's production of "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's comic operetta. A freshman, Miss MacCalmont is a member of the operetta chorus.

Private First Class Charles A. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Snyder of Rocky Hill, has participated in a winter training excercise in Korea as a member of the 1st Division's 8th Cavalry. Pfc. Snyder, who entered the Army in August 1960, is a radar mechanic in the cavalry's combat support company. Before entering the service, he was employed by the American Cyanamid Company on Route 1.

Wilbur M. Young of 25 Mercer Street, Controller of Princeton University, has been elected to the executive committee of the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers. Mr. Young came to Princeton in 1935 and was appointed to his present office last June after having served as associate controller.

A Princeton High School student, James M. Kempton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kempton of 271 Edgerstoune Road, has been named a national winner in its annual Achievement Awards competition by the National Council of Teachers of English. In announcing the winners, the Council recommends these students for college scholarships. His teachers at Princeton High School have been Miss Ruth Huzzard and Mrs. Ethel Thomas.

Richard Fleck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Keene Fleck of 40 Edwards Place, who received his M.A. in English from Colorado State University in December, will begin a two-year tour of active duty in the Navy in October. Mr. Fleck is a seasonal Park Ranger with the Rocky Mountain National Park.

Dr. Wheaton J. Lane of 85 Winant Road and Dr. Richard M. Huber of 39 Wilson Road will be co-editors of a Tercentenary series of 25 pamphlets about New Jersey which will be published as part of the State's 300th birthday celebration in 1964. The announcement was made by Senator Robert C. Crane, chairman of the New Jersey Tercentenary Commission.

Among those assisting in the initial planning of the pamphlets are three Princeton residents: Dr. Wesley F. Craven, Professor of History, Princeton University; Roger H. McDonough, Library Archives and History Director and State Librarian; and Taylor Putney, Jr., former Professor of History at Washington Square College.

A former graduate and member of the History Department of Princeton University, Dr. Lane is the author of "From Indian Trails to Iron Horse," "Commodore Vanderbilt," and "Pictorial History of Princeton." Dr. Huber is the author of several books including "A Theory of American Studies" and is currently completing a history of the idea of success in America. He received his Ph.D. in American studies at Yale University in 1948.

Allen Giese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Giese of 503 Lake Drive, a senior at Swarthmore College, has been awarded a varsity letter in cross-country for the 1961 season. A graduate of Princeton High School, Allen was co-captain of the team which compiled a 7-1 record last year. He is majoring in engineering.

Joseph Stemmle, Jr. of 142 Moore Street has been elected chairman of the board of directors of his Production Methods class at Trenton State College. The course attempts to simulate industry in every detail. A junior, Mr. Stemmle is majoring in Industrial Arts Education and has been active in the student executive board and class government. He is a member of the Phi Alpha Delta fraternity.

"Chocolate-Covered Grasshoppers?"

The sources of anti-biotics are sometimes as strange. In 1930, 140 people out of every 100,000 died of pneumonia or influenza. In 1958, only 28 per 100,000 died — 1/5 as many deaths. Sulfa and anti-biotics made the difference. What is the value of a prescription when it saves a life?

AS WE SEE IT!

By John Conole

In this modern day and age, Insurance, like any other business, is highly competitive. We feel this is as it should be. However, the question arises, "How do several businesses with the same product compete successfully?" There is one answer: SERVICE.

There is a great difference in available insurance policies. It takes a dedicated, well-trained specialist to pick the one contract or group of contracts to fit the individual needs of any one person or business. Naturally, this calls for a very close relationship between client and agent. We feel we have established this relationship successfully with a great many Princetonians.

AS WE SEE IT, we have a great responsibility to the public. It is of paramount importance to us to know that our clients have the best that is available anywhere, and that they know we are available anytime, any place to perform whatever service is required. We aren't being noble — we really feel that way.

Remember, security is not a hit or miss affair. It just does not pay to do business with an "order taker." We feel we are able to satisfy fairly your complete insurance needs. If you would care to give us a try. There is no obligation, of course. MERCER-PRINCETON REALTY COMPANY, INC., 21 Chambers Street, WA 1-7262.

BUSINESS In Princeton

RESTAURANT BOUGHT

By Harold B. Ostroff. Purchase of Rossi's restaurant, formerly known as Jack Fowler's, on U. S. 1 was announced this week by Harold B. Ostroff. Mr. Ostroff is the owner of Renwick's, 50 Nassau Street, whose management he will continue to supervise.

Plans call for a complete refurbishing of the restaurant, with completion in March. "When finished, it will be one of the most modern restaurant and catering establishments in New Jersey," Mr. Ostroff said.

The new establishment will be known as "The Compass." The name was chosen by Mr. Ostroff because a compass frequently enabled him to find food dropped by Allied planes, and to stay alive while he was a jungle fighter in Burma with Merrill's Marauders in World War II.

The restaurant will feature a menu of food "from the four corners of the earth;" a cocktail lounge, executive dining suite for business conferences, banquet hall with facilities for 500, a downstairs club room and an additional room to handle parties up to 50.

NASSAU FUND GROWS

Major Increase Reported. The Nassau Fund, whose offices are at 10 Nassau Street, announced this week that its net asset value appreciated 23.6% during 1961.

As a measuring stick of its achievement, it was pointed out that the 25 largest mutual funds listed by Standard and Poor showed gains in net assets during 1961 ranging from 23.6% to 8.8%. The Nassau Fund's total assets grew last year from $2,400,000 to $4,000,000.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

By Chamber of Commerce. The election of six directors to the Chamber of Commerce for three-year terms was announced this week by President Fred M. Blaicher.

Re-elected were R. L. Lenhart, president of Lenhart and Cady; Theodore S. Reed, owner of The Gulick Agency; and John C. Yeoman, treasurer of Palmer Square. Named for the first time were Alan G. Frank, vice-president and treasurer of Langrock's; Albridge C. Smith, 3d, attorney with offices in Palmer Square; and Harry Volwieder, president of S. T. Peterson Co.

RESOURCES UP

For Princeton Bank. In presenting his report for 1961, George R. Cook 3rd, president of Princeton Bank and Trust Company, cited an increase in all departments of the bank, in contrast to the slow recovery from the recession experienced by other banks. Total resources, triple the amount recorded in 1949, were $42,179,968, up 9% or $3,460,000 from 1960.

Net income per share was $3.38, the highest in the bank's 127 years and up one cent from 1960. Total deposits were up 10% for an all-time high of $37,939,113, and Mr. Cook also reported new records established by the Hopewell and Princeton Township branches.

Reserves totalling $593,000 at the end of the year included $72,628 for interest on savings certificates, $282,497 for unearned discount on loans and $237,956 for income and other taxes.

Total capital funds were increased by $300,000, up 11% from 1960, and created a ratio of capital funds to total deposits of 8%. Mr. Cook declared, "Our ratio signifies that we may be classed among the strongest banks in this important respect."

During 1961, Princeton Bank extended credit to the extent of $19,862,162, and received payments of $18,417,536. Total loans outstanding were $16,023,895, up 9% from the previous year. Recoveries on loans previously charged off amounted to $4,827.

Commissions and fees gained by the trust division were $250,435, 29.4% more than in 1960. During 1961, 31 new accounts were opened, and the total number at the end of the year was 323. A record $2,442,000 was collected as income for the accounts.

The book value of trust assets, exclusive of corporate trusts increased to $52,227,206, and the market value exceeded $80,000,000. The bank's diversified trust fund increased to over $7,500,000 during its 12th year. "It is our belief," Mr. Cook said, "that the Fund continues to meet its objectives of rendering high-quality investment services to the participating accounts and of meeting the cost of living increase."

NEW SERVICE OFFERED

By Photo Process. Installation of a Xerox 914 Copier has been announced by Princeton Photo Process, 11 Witherspoon Street.

Duplicating by an electrostatic process, the machine can reproduce anything written, typed, printed or drawn in any size up to 9x14 inches. W. H. Reinheimer, president of the company, said that Xerox copying will supplement other reproduction processes now offered and should be of particular assistance to business firms when fast service is required.

'MUST' GAME FOR TIGERS

Saturday Against Penn. No better than 1-2 after three games on the road, Princeton's defending champions in the Ivy Basketball League will face Pennsylvania Saturday night in a contest the Tigers have to win to stay in the race. The starting time in Dillon Gym is 8.15.

A two-week lay-off for examinations has been anything but helpful to Jake McCandless' quintet, particularly in view of the Quakers' ability to play a normal schedule because their exams came in December. However, working for the Tigers will be the visitors' loss of two key players through ineligibility: 6-5 Dave Robinson and 6-2 Dick Biboroseh. Robinson was a major factor in the 64-56 loss that the Red and Blue pinned on Princeton at the Palestra earlier this month.

That defeat was followed by a rout at Yale's hands in New Haven, but the next night saw the Tigers rebound to take total charge of Brown. For the first time this season, everything went right at Providence as a newly-installed fast break helped the Orange and Black roll to an 83-59 triumph.

Ability to win at home is essential to the team's plans for a third straight Ivy title, and a triumph this weekend must be followed by victories next Friday and Saturday over Brown and Yale. McCandless will go with his usual starting five Captain Al Kaemmerlen, Pete Campbell, Art Hyland, Jack Whitehouse and Bill Haarlow. By next weekend, sophomore Rick Wright is expected to regain academic eligibility, bolstering reserve strength materially.

Hockey Team to Travel. A pair of games Friday and Saturday against Providence and Boston College are on the hockey team's schedule before resumption of Ivy activity Wednesday night against Brown in Baker Rink. Odds are against a victory on the road trip, but the Tigers should be able to turn the tables on Brown, which upset them, 3-2, at Providence on January 6.

Second place in the league is strictly up for grabs. If the Tigers can handle all comers save Harvard at home, and top either Yale or Dartmouth on the road, they could well make it.

SOUTH RIVER LOSES

To Surging PHS. One of the comments Princeton High School coach Tony Borzok made about his team earlier in the season was that he found he could substitute any one of his regulars without loss in team performance. In the Little Tigers' impressive 64-38 return victory over South River High School Friday evening, Tony went two steps further—he substituted for three of his five regulars for the entire game and it made no noticeable difference.

With three of his starters forced to miss the game—John Bensinger taking a college exam; Danny Brown, ill; and Hank Schmidt sidelined with an injury—Borzok had only George Tucker and Charlie Pemberton to face a team that the Blue and White had beaten by 12 points just eight days before on its home court.

As it developed, this pair was more than equal to the task of stopping the revenge-minded Rams, seeking their 10th win in 12 games. Tucker maintained his 20-plus points a game average by dunking 29 and Pemberton added 15 more, their total outscoring the home team by six. Don Cooper, John Barbour and Don Truesdell, filling in for the absent regulars, combined for 10 points.

The Blue and White was behind only in the first period when it trailed 14-9. Thereafter, the Rams could never score more than nine points a quarter while the surprising visitors improved with each succeeding period, connecting for 22 in the final canto. It was the victors' seventh straight win and eighth in nine games. For South River, it was defeat number three and a heartfelt "good riddance" to PHS.

The win was labeled by Borzok as "one of the biggest in my coaching career." Tony has been at the PHS helm for nine years.

His Little Tigers will get no respite. They play two home games and a road contest in six days. The home games will be played against Ewing Friday evening at 7 and Hamilton Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. The following day, the squad will oppose a tough, Bordentown Military Institute quintet at Bordentown.

MRS. VARNER WINS

In Squash Tourney. Mrs. Margaret Varner of Wilmington, Del., defeated Mrs. Charles Wetzel of Philadelphia to win the New Jersey Women's Squash Racquets Championship last week at Pretty Brook Tennis Club. The scores were 15-10, 15-9, 10-15 and 15-11.

Two Princeton women reached the quarter-final round. They are Mrs. David Frothingham and Mrs. John Claghorn. The consolation final matched Mrs. Lucius Wilmer-

YMCA, IDA WIN

In Industrial League. YMCA tied RCA Labs for first place and Institute for Defense Analyses won its first game to provide the chief highlights in the fifth week of play in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League.

In the closest game of the evening, YMCA defeated RCA Astro, 42 to 38, to draw even with the idle, league-leading RCA Labs with four victories and one defeat apiece. Astro led at the half but fell before the shooting of Bruce Larson and Ray Cevera who combined for 27 points. Ray Yuhasz, Jerry Gibbs and Bill Appleton each had eight for the losers.

Showing weekly improvement after a poor start, IDA finally broke through with a 39 to 22 victory over Educational Testing Service for its first win in five games. Dick Easton hit for 12 points and teammate Don Perey added 11 more to pace IDA. Al Meyers with 13 was high for ETS.

Sannino A. C trounced winless Food Machinery and Chemical, 64 to 38, in the final game, played at the Princeton High School gymnasium. Five Sannino players hit double figures, with Tom Perks, Bob Kehoe, Harry Kahny, Charles Stryker and Dave Britton connecting for 60 points. FMC's Pete Van Wunnik's 18 points was high for all teams.

The standings:

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| RCA | 4 | 1 | .800 |
| YMCA | 4 | 1 | 800 |
| ETS | 3 | 2 | 600 |
| Sannino | 3 | 2 | 600 |
| RCA Astro | 3 | 3 | 500 |
| IDA | 1 | 4 | 200 |
| FMC | 0 | 5 | 000 |

HUN FIVE ADVANCES

In Penn-Jersey Conference. The Hun School basketball team scored 50 points or more for the first time this season in two games last week to win them both, 57-54, and 50-42. The three-point victory was recorded over Solebury last Wednesday and the second win against Moorestown at Moorestown Saturday.

Both contests were Penn-Jersey Conference games and increased Hun's record in the league to 3-1. Overall the Red and Black has won three of six outings. Coach Dan Barren's players will try to make it three in a row next Wednesday afternoon when they meet Pennington Prep, conference champions, last year, in the Princeton Seminary gymnasium.

The Red and Black won its first road game of the season before more than 900 Moorestown fans Saturday, coming from behind after trailing by two at the end of the first period. The visitors pulled ahead by three at the half on the shooting of Alex Langel and went on to increase their margin by ten at the start of the final period. Rich Patt, who shows improvement with every game, chipped in with an 11-point performance for a personal high for the season.

Trailing 51-48 at the start of the final quarter, a fine Hun defensive effort held the visiting Solebury quintet to three points in the last 8 minutes to squeak by the Spartans, 57 to 54. Jim Byer clinched the victory when he sank one of his two foul shots with five seconds to play and his team leading 56-54. The Hun standout connected for a game high of 27 points.

SLUMP HITS LARRIES

Quintet Loses 5 Straight. Lawrenceville's basketball team will be seeking to snap a five-game losing streak this Saturday when it plays host to Blair Academy in a contest scheduled for 2:30. The hockey team, which was scheduled to play Hill on Wednesday, will face the Wissahickon Hockey Club at 3:30 Saturday on Lavino Rink.

Pennington Prep handed the basketball team its fourth straight loss, 48-47, last Wednesday. Pennington's Bill Palmer sank a free throw with two seconds left to provide the winning margin. On Saturday, the Larries bowed 61-38 to St. Benedict's Academy of Newark. The team's record is now 2-6.

The hockey team absorbed its third straight defeat Saturday at the hands of the Cranford Hockey Club, 3 to 2. The hockey team's record is also 2-6.

BOWLING NOTES

Wins Title By Eight Pins. Kingston came from behind to win a best-of-three roll-off and win the first half of the Tri-County Firemen's League season to highlight Princeton bowling action last week. Kingston won the third game by a slim eight-pin margin, after George Luck's 254 paced the champions to victory in the second game. Dutch Neck won the opening game easily.

In other action last week, the Crescents (75) captured the first half of the Industrial League season, finishing 13 points ahead of First National Bank and 15 ahead of Tiger Garage. ROTC Blue and COB were tied with 70 points each in the Faculty loop, and the King Pins held a nine-point margin over Research I (52) in the ETS circuit.

Princeton Inn, Farmers and K of C were all tied for first place in the "A" League, with eight points apiece, and Walker Gordon and Edwards, at five victories each, led the "B" circuit as those loops moved into the second half of their seasons. Princeton No. 1 (14) was the pace-setter in early second-half action in the Firemen's League.

Conover Motors moved into the front spot in the Women's League, a game ahead of four other teams tied at 12 points each, and Nassau Service and Gale Cleaners, with eight wins each, paced the Women's Industrial loop. Top ladiess' scores included Margaret Drummond, 186, in the latter circuit, and Carole Harris, 193; Sara Rose, 188; and Marilyn Silvester, 186, in the former.

High men's scores included Harry Kahny, 224, John Donaldson, 214, Bill Toole, 210; Art Parr, 209, Al Wright and Bip Davison, 207 each; Ted Drake, 205, Mike Koplmer, 204; and Stan Tantum, 202, in the Firemen's League; Conrad Daniels, 224, and Al Perrine and Frank Delneso, 201 each, in the "A" loop, and Pete Homan, 211, in the Industrial circuit.

New Faces In '62

Three new football opponents, all from outside Mercer County, are among the eight teams that the Princeton High School football team will meet next fall. The three newcomers are: North Plainfield, Hackettstown and East Patterson.

In contrast to previous years when nearly all of the Little Tigers' home games were played on Friday, all eight 1962 contests will be played on Saturday. Half of them will be played at Harris Field; all will start at 2 with the exception of the Ewing and East Patterson contests, which will begin at 11.

The 1962 schedule: Sept. 22, North Plainfield; 29, Trenton Catholic, away; Oct. 6, Hackettstown, away; 13, Trenton High; 20, Ewing; 27, Steinert, away. Nov. 3, East Patterson; 10, Hamilton, away.

Also, Howard McWhorter, 224-204 and 608; Mike Pinelli, 220; Jerry Perpelua, 214; Joe Baldino, 210-200; John Baldino, 208; and Wilton Rose, 202, in the "B" League; Lou Kozma, 242, Dominick Giovinazzo, 225; and Ray DeSimone, 200, in the ETS circuit, and Dave Baker, 233, and John Hannmarich, 204, in the Faculty League.

In the Trentonian Classic Tournament, Frank Delneso and Al Hibbard won the American Division round, after 45 games, by two points. They will meet the National Divi-

News Of The CHURCHES

CLASSES SCHEDULED

At Two Churches. Two Princeton churches, Trinity Episcopal and Princeton Methodist, have announced plans for adult school classes, opening next week.

The Trinity Parish Adult School is scheduling two new classes. A course entitled "Man and Morals: The Christian View," to be given by Professor George R. Thomas of Princeton University, will be held Wednesdays at 8:15 p.m. at Trinity parish house, beginning next Wednesday and continuing through March 21.

The Rt. Rev. Kenneth Riches, Bishop of Lincoln, England, will present a course in family and personal prayer. This course will be offered Mondays at 8:15 p.m. at All Saints' Chapel, beginning February 5 and continuing through March 26.

The "University of Life" series at Princeton Methodist Church will open next Wednesday at 6 p.m., with succeeding meetings on February 7, 14 and 21. A covered dish supper will precede the lecture.

General theme of the series will be "Biblical Landmarks." Speaker will be Dr. Howard T. Kuist, professor at Princeton Theological Seminary, who will illustrate his talks with color slides of excavations and reconstructions.

BULLETIN NOTES

• A square dance will be held Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. in the social hall of Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, under the joint sponsorship of the Princeton United Young Adult Fellowship and the New Brunswick Presbytery Young Adult Council. SOMERVILLE TRIUMPHS

Over Weakened PHS. Somerville High School scored its 12th straight victory without a defeat Tuesday afternoon but not before the Little Tigers had thrown a king-size scare into the visiting Pioneers before a jam-packed crowd in Princeton High's gymnasium. The score was 72-62.

Severely handicapped by the loss of two regulars—Hank Schmidt sidelined indefinitely with a broken nose and Danny Brown hospitalized with a virus—the Blue and White still managed to lead the much taller Somerville team by two points at the end of the first quarter. Though Tony Borzok's players fell behind during the next two periods, they had enough determination left to outscore the Pioneers 24-22 in a hectic, whistle-ridden, final period. Borzok underlined the "what-might-have-been" aura of the game if PHS had been at full strength when he said, "I think it would have been a different story if we had had Brown and Schmidt in there."

High scorers for the losers for the second game in a row were George Tucker with 20 and Charlie Pemberton with 17. PHS hit for a fine 46 per-cent from the floor but the taller Pioneers prevented the Little Tigers from getting the ball to shoot often enough, limiting them to 19 rebounds throughout the contest. "We played our hearts out," said Borzok, "but what can you do when you can't control the boards and you have two men out?"

Dear TRAVELEX,

Let's plan a luxury liner cruise around the world! It isn't as expensive as you might think. The fares start at only $15.00 a day!

Let's see, now. First we'll take one of the Cunard Line's ships to cross the Atlantic. Which will it be? One of the Queens? Or the Mauretania? Or one of the others? They have seven leaving from New York. There is a sailing from here about three times a week. The trip over will be just beyond description. If you've never been on a cruise you've got to go. That's all there is to it. You can't lift a finger without someone helping you hold it up!

The food melts in your mouth and the sea air gives you the best appetite you've had since you were fifteen. What the heck, you can diet when you get home. Next week we'll get to England and I, for one, am going to rent a small boat and ride up and down the Thames through the locks!

As ever,
Nancy

OPEN LETTER TO HOME SEEKERS

The Welsh people have a lovely name for land of unusual beauty and because we have such a property in the former Howe estate here in Princeton, we call it LLANFAIR.

Whether your ideal is a home surrounded by forest-type trees, rare specimen trees, fruit trees or open to the sun, whether you like a brook, a slightly sloping plot, or a knoll—we have what you want.

Our NEW builders are bending every effort to make plans available that will please our very discriminating Princeton people—the traditional Colonial exteriors are exquisite, the interiors very livable. The new farm Colonial with gambrel roof and five bedrooms, rec. room plus den, is a family home in the true sense of the word.

Don't wait for models—they sell before they're built—although we are starting two. Make an appointment with us to see these plans, and if you have any doubts, let us introduce you to the new builders whose sincerity will impress you, whose painstaking attention to detail and fine finishing will satisfy you.

Your own plans, if you'd rather, can be used, and an estimate will be given you in short order. Our aim is to please you and to make this an area of which we all can be proud. May we hear from you?

Sincerely,
Joyce Woodruff, Manager
Middlesex Realty Co.
